WANT NO CENTRAL CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION

Caesar," 7:46 p. m. "No central citizens association as an collumbia-Burton Holmes' lecture, "Portu- adjunct of the Business Men's Associa-"No central citizens' association as an tion" was the cause of the meeting of the Bloomingdale and Le Droit Park citizens' Association last night.

Action was delayed for one month out of courtesy to the president, Clayton E. Emig, who is a member of the committee to form the proposed body. The members of the association spoke strongly against the proposition. Mr. Emig being the only one in its favor.

The idea advanced was that the nothing to do with furthering the aims of a larger body downtown. Major Farnsworth declared that a central body would necessarily act as a veto power in local improvement, and would in effect be a handicap upon the smaller associations. He did not believe in the principle, and said so in positive terms.

Judge Bundy, of the Police Court, took he ground that more or less jealousy would exist between the local associations, and nothing like unanimity of sentiment could exist in the larger body. Judge Bundy spoke of the section forming the bailiwick of the association. He thought it one of the most important in the city. The association had been formed for local improvement and should give its attention solely to that object. Judge Bundy suggested that Bloomingdale and Le Droit Park needed school houses, pavements and sidewalks, and it was not in the least interested in what might be considered of prime importance by the Business Men's Association

A resolution was passed pledging the activity of the association to change the site of the proposed school building, for which $60,000 has been appropriated. The sense of the meeting was that the building should be located farther west than First Street

A vote of thanks was ordered for Senator McComas, of Maryland, in recognition of his efforts in obtaining an appropriation of $10,000 for the paving of Rhode Island Avenue, from Florida Avenue northeast.

A resolution was passed congratulating Commissioner Macfarland upon his reappointment for a second term.
